NCJW Opening Event

Free to Paid-Up Members!

Special Guest Speaker

MIKA BRZEZINSKI

Author of "All Things At Once"

Co-Host of "Morning Joe" on MSNBC

Tuesday, October 26, 2010

The Wilshire Grand Hotel

350 Pleasant Valley Way, West Orange, N.J.

Some call her "the rebel at the news desk," but Mika Brzezinski says of herself, simply, that she has become "Mother, wife, journalist. All things at once."

Her memoir chronicles her journey to achieve success in all three roles. Years of struggle, including serious professional and personal setbacks, had her thinking that it couldn't be done - until she landed where she is now, in the anchor seat beside Joe Scarborough as the co-host of "Morning Joe" on MSNBC. Join us to hear about her amazing journey.

Coffee and dessert will be served.

Bring your friends!

Coming alone? We'll find you a great table!

5:45 p.m. Dinner with Mika Brzezinski

($75 per person, reservations required; includes priority seating at the program)

6:00 p.m. Boutique shopping opens

6:45 p.m. Registrant check-in opens

7:30 p.m. Program begins

Advance registration required.

BOOKS AND BAGELS

Wednesday, October 6, 10:00 a.m.
 "Women of the Silk" By Gail Tsukiyama
 A first novel exceptional for its exquisite writing and for its rich portrait of a woman's life in a China now lost.

Wednesday, November 10, 10:00 a.m.
 "Little Bee" By Chris Cleave
 This is a truly special story. "Little Bee" will blow you away. Cleave has carved two indelible characters brought together in an explosive manner. This is the best kind of political novel because you're almost unaware of the politics due to the interaction of the human beings.

Tuesday, December 14, 10:00 a.m.
 "Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet"
 By Jamie Ford
 An exceptional, well written, historical-fiction novel about the persecution of Japanese immigrants in the United States. Many complex themes are intertwined throughout the narrative.

$6 per session for members;
 $15 for the series of three
 $10 per session for nonmembers
 Locations and directions will be provided upon registration.
